Sudden Deaths.

Heart disease is by far the most frequent cause of sudden death which in this country of four deaths in five goes unreported. The symptoms are not generally understood. These are: a habit of lying on the right side, short breath, pain or distress in side, asthma or violent irregular pulse, asthma, weak heart, etc. Aches in wind in stomach, swelling of ankles or drooping, oppression, dry cough and smothering. Dr. Miles' illustrated book on Heart Disease free at J. W. Doherty's, who also supplies Dr. Miles' Standard New Heart Case and his Restorative Nervine, which cures nervousness, headache, sleeplessness, effects of drinking, etc. It contains no opium.

Happy Creek.

Mrs. Mary Allison, who has been very ill for some time, we are glad to say is much better at this writing.

Mr. Elton Phillips is very ill with pneumonia at the present.

Mr. Stephen Harrod and wife visited Mr. Henry Allison and family on Saturday night last.

Mr. Willis Rodgers and wife and little daughter, Myrtle, visited Mrs. Henry Hiett and family on Sunday last.

Died—November 10th, 1891, Miss Laura Fullam, daughter of George Fullam, with consumption, aged 13 years. She was an excellent, courageous and affectionate little girl, and may her parent not mourn at those without hope, but may they prepare to meet her in a better world. Her funeral service was conducted by Rev. J. A. Peters, taking for his text "Therefore be you ready, for in such an hour as you know not the Son of Man cometh."

Startling Facts.

The Americans people are rapidly becoming a race of nervous wrecks, and the following suggests the best remedy: Alphonse Hempfing, of Butler, Pa., asserts that when his son was taken from St. Vitus disease Dr. Miles' great Remorative Nervine cured him. Mrs. J. R. Miller, of Valparaiso, Ind., and J. D. Taylor, of Gangasport, Ind., each gained 20 pounds from taking it. Mrs. H. A. Gardner, of Louisville, takes Dr. Miles' convulsions a day, and much headache, dizziness, backache and nervous prostration by one bottle. Trial bottles, and fine book of marvels cures free at J. W. Gayle's, who recommends and guarantees this unequalled remedy.

Milville.

We are having winter weather. Good many of our people took advantage of the last few cold days and killed hogs.

Mrs. Dr. Reddish, of Somerset, and Mrs. Will Hayden, of Lexington, attended the Wilson-Petty wedding last week.

There was preaching at the Baptist Church Sunday morning.

Mr. W. T. Shy, who has been quite sick with pneumonia, we are glad to report much better.

Mrs. Hite Mitchell is quite sick at home near here.

Miss Lizzie Darnell has returned home after a visit of several weeks to Mrs. W. W. Darnell.

Married, at the residence of the bride's mother, Mr. Will Petty, on Tuesday last, Mr. George Wilson and Miss Lena Petty. The attendants were Miss A. May Cromwell, of Jeff Station and Mr. Levy Johnson, of near Graham's Distillery. The bride, a lady 16 on the 16th, 10:30 train for Somerset, Kentucky.

Madam Rumor reported several wedlings in the near future, one of our boys near "Old Taylor" and a young lady of the "Old Stone" neighborhood.

JACK AND JILL.

Strength and Health.

If you are not feeling strong and healthy, try Electric Bitters. If "LaGrippe" has left you weak and weary, use Electric Bitters. This remedy acts directly on Liver, Stomach and Kidneys, gently aiding those organs to perform their functions. For all forms of neuralgia and headache, you will find speedy and permanent relief by taking Electric bitters. One trial will convince you that this is the remedy you need. Large bottles only $6.00, at PHIL. CARPENTER'S DRUG STORE.

Among the Colored Citizens.

There was a Republican meeting held on the South Side last Tuesday night at the Northern Methodist Church, and the house was crowded. The following gentlemen from the North Side made short speeches: Jerome Wetzel, R. H. Taylor, Rev. E.

Royal Baking Powder Has no Equal.

The Royal Baking Powder will make sweater, lighter, finer-flavored and more wholesome bread, biscuit and cake than any other leavening agent. It is of higher strength, and therefore goes further in work and is more economical. All government and scientific tests go to show this. Royal Baking Powder as a leavening agent is absolutely without an equal.

RUSH MEDICAL COLLEGE, CHICAGO.

"As the result of my tests I find the Royal Baking Powder superior to all the others in every respect. It is entirely free from all adulteration and unwholesome impurity, and in baking it gives off a greater volume of leavening gas than any other powder. It is therefore not only the purest but also the strongest powder with which I am acquainted.

"WALTER S. HAINES, M. D., Prof. of Chemistry.

CHICAGO COLLEGE OF PHARMACY.

"The Royal Baking Powder, which tests the highest in strength, is free from lime, alum, lime phosphates or other adulterations. Its superlative purity, the entire wholesomeness of its ingredients, the scientific manner in which they are combined, together with its much greater strength, make the Royal unquestionably superior to any other baking powder.

"H. D. GARRISON," Prof. of Chemistry.

Evans, Edward Lane and others. The speeches were all good and we hope that they had the desired effect.

The Educational Association held their meeting last night and a very pleasant time was had. The paper prepared by the editor we were glad to hear owing to the lateness of the hour. However, the Association is a very successful one, thanks to the officers of the Association. They hold their regular meeting once a month.

It is reported that one of our school teachers is to wed another teacher, and that they do not teach forty miles away from each other.

The Literary Society will hold their meeting at the First Independent Baptist Church, and a very interesting programme for the meeting has been prepared. The public is invited.

Misses Allen and Seals, of Lexington, were in the city during last week visiting Miss Ophelia Price.

The entertainment given by the Camp Thanksgiving drew one of those old fashioned crowds that go out for fun, and it was enjoyed as far as the giving was well spent by all.

Miss Lucy Dillman, of Louisville, is visiting Miss Martha Williams on the South Side.

Miss Lawson, of Emblynne, was the guest of Miss Ellis this week.

Miss Kenler was the guest of Miss Emma Harris this week.

We appeal to the colored voters to go to the polls early to-day and cast their votes for the Republican nominee. Please do not wait until some one will pay you for your vote.

The Powder Horn Club gave a delightful entertainment at the U. H. F. Hall on Thanksgiving night. Quite a pleasant time was had.

To the Colored Voters:

The colored citizens are called upon to day to vote for a Republican candidate for mayor, a thing unknown in the political history of Frankfort. Victory or defeat, colored men you must bear the responsibility. Now we appeal to you as free men and citizens to do no violence to anyone for the purpose of purchasing your suffrage. And we also appeal to the old and young men among us to rally at the polls early this morning to advocate a cause of which you would be proud. That cause has gone into a convention and named a true Republican, and a man whose character is unblemished. For once, gentlemen, I say, go to the polls and cast your vote for the Republican nominee, Valentine Berberich.

Who has a Capped Hock?

C. C. Smith, Treasurer of Lakecounty, Indiana, who resides at Crown Point, writes: "I cured a Capped Hock with one bottle of Quin's Ointment. It is the best thing I have ever used. In fact, ranchers and horsemen who desire a reliable remedy, use the above preparation."

Located Here.

Dr. Jacob S. Coleman, who has recently returned from Europe, where he spent a year visiting the large hospitals of the larger cities of Germany and Austria, and in studying the different diseases of the eye, ear and throat in order to better fit him for the treatment of those diseases, has concluded to locate here at his own home, has opened an office in Dr. Collins' building, on Main street, and offers his professional services to our citizens.

Dr. Coleman was one of the brightest boys who every attended the City School, won one of the first gold medals offered for good scholarship in that institution, and since he has grown to manhood has made a splendid record in the practice of his chosen profession.

Little Johnnie, on seeing a skeleton for the first time, exclaimed, "Why didn't they skin her mighty close, so that we could see all her bones?" She looks worse than Aunt Jane did, before she gave her the benefit of Dr. Quin's Preparation. "Aunt Jane" was so completely worn out, by prolamps, peridental difficulties and nervous prostration, that she was a constant sufferer, night and day, but Dr. Quin's Favorite Prescription so powerfully relieved her, that she could walk about again without pain at any time, and her general health was never better. As a remedy for all female weaknesses, as a strengthening tonic and quieting nervine, "Quin's Prescription" is unequalled. Guaranteed to give satisfaction or price ($1.00) refunded.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ANCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"The use of 'Castoria' is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a work of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep Castoria within easy reach."

CAROLUS HAWTHORNE, New York City, Late Pastor Bloomingdale Reformed Church.

Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhea, Eructation, Kill Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digesting processes.

"For several years I have recommended your 'Castoria,' and shall always continue to do so as it has invariably produced beneficial results."

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky as second-class mail matter.

Geo. A. LEWIS, Editor and Publisher.

FRANKFORT, DEC. 5, 1891.

Goose-bone Weather.

Mr. Alfred B. Read has sent us the breast bone of a goose, requesting to know what it said about the weather, and from it we make the following predictions. The first few days of December will be cold, but the balance of the month will be mild and open until about the first of January, when cold weather sets in and grows steadily colder until the middle of the month, when it will become warmer gradually until about the first of February. February will be cold all through, from which time it will begin to warm gradually until about the first of March. February will be cold all through, from which time it will begin to warm gradually until about the first of March.

Six O'clock Tea.

Mrs. Sue Bush, daughter of Hon. W. P. D. Bush, formerly of this city, and Mr. Will Caldwell will be quietly married at the home of the bride's parents in Louisville, on the 23d of this month.

Commendable.

All claims not consistent with the high character of Syrup of Figs are purposely avoided by the Cal. Fig Syrup Company. It acts gently on the kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the system effectually, but it is not a cure-all and makes no pretensions that every bottle will not substantiate.

Will Wed next Month.

Mr. Cliff Shrophe, of Lexington, and Miss Willie Robb will be married on the 6th of January, at the home of the bride's parents near Ducker Station.

Mr. Sam. D. Johnson, of this city, and Miss Margaret Martin, will also be married next month at the home of the bride in Lexington.

Nominated for Clerk.

Mr. Jack Bradley, a gentleman well-known in this city, where he served as a U. S. ganger under the Cleveland administration, has been nominated by the Democratic party as a candidate for Circuit Clerk of Scott county. The election does not take place until December, 1892, and Jack will have plenty of time in which to "see the boys."

Forty Hours Devotion.

Forty hours devotion commenced at the Church of the Good Shepherd on Monday morning and closed Wednesday. The services were in charge of Rev. Wm. E. Gorey, who was assisted by Fathers Jones of Mt. St. Peter, Healy, of Winchester; Redding, of Park; Donnelly, of Cynthiana; McGinley, of White Sulphur; Jas. Gorey, of Covington, and Van Troeteren, of Lexington.

Gone to Eddyville.

Mr. Z. J. Montgomery has resigned his position as Secretary and Treasurer of the Safety Vault and Trust Company, and Secretary of the Kentucky Investment and Building Association, and has gone to Eddyville to take the position of general manager for Messrs. Mason & Foard Company, lessors of the convict labor in the Branch Penitentiary at that place.

Mr. Vernon L. Clark, who has been General Ticket Agent and Auditor of the Kentucky Midland Railroad since it commenced operations, has been tendered and accepted the positions made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Montgomery and has entered upon the discharge of his duties.

Mr. A. D. Smith is temporarily filling the position made vacant by the retirement of Mr. Clark at the Midland office.

All a Mistake.

The rumor that the Athletic Club would close their rooms and the organization be broken up is all a mistake, as new members are constantly joining the club. New improvements will be put in and the rooms have just been released for three years longer. A Brussels carpet has been ordered for the reading room, the club is in good condition financially and is a fixture in Frankfort, talk to the contrary notwithstanding.

A Former Frankfort Lady to Wed.

Mrs. Sue Bush, daughter of Hon. W. P. D. Bush, formerly of this city, and Mr. Will Caldwell will be quietly married at the home of the bride's parents in Louisville, on the 23d of this month.

Six O'clock Tea.

Mrs. O. R. Crutcher gave a 6 o'clock dinner Saturday evening in honor of her guests, Misses Berdelle Bedford, of this county, and Patti Moore, of Georgetown. Messrs. Anderson, of Cincinnati, and the Messrs. Stege, of Louisville, were present.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT

FRANKFORT, DEC. 5, 1891.

Letter from D. Meade Woodson.

GLASGOW, Va.

Editor Roundabout:—has rolled around since I landed in this beautiful valley of the historic James river, at a point where the same is confluenced with the North river, and where both of the great cycles of past ages have woven their residues. We, through the magic of the Judge Mountains, thus forming the only available gap for the benefit of commerce, in a manner, throughout the whole range.

Nestled at this spot is the little city of Glasgow, with its environs of rau-mous of other kinds and natural curiosities. Nature has done much for this spot as a site for a busy city; some day may be in store for it, like all the other booming towns of the country. It has, for a time, at least, succumbed to the great financial panic following immediately on the heels of the barring failure in London. The depression following was most troublesome, and caused to catch the impulse of the electric current which has now run over the world. All manner of energy seems to have been totally eclipsed ever since.

Some of the leading practical business men of the country, however, claim that it is not natural to suppose that all booming towns are destined to become nourishing and populous cities, yet the majority of them that are advantageously located relatively to each other, are bound to develop, that they are only a few years ahead of time, and that Glasgow and Big Stone Gap are among them.

The James river, from Richmond to its source, is very rapid and tortuous, so much so, and very near the entire distance was once under a system of locks and dams, and the water made to do canal service. This is now a canal systems engineers. In State in a series of locks, which it has never seen rid. Many views of this river are truly enchanting, and I am prepared to say its waters are the clearest I have ever beheld, and that is saying much. There is a bridge across the Shadwell Valley R. R., at one of the most charming spots on this river, just two and one-half miles from it, interiorly or nearly at a right angle course from the direction of the river, is the well known Natural Bridge, about four miles drive from the upper edge of the mountain. I made my first visit there about a month ago.

I can not say that I was disappointed, for I had somewhat a pre-conceived idea of the grandeur of the bridge, and it exceeded. If I had seen Pike's Peak, looming up nearly 200 miles distant; if I had never crossed the Rocky Mountains over Marshall's pass at a height of 10,860 feet and seen people climbing it towering over 10,000 feet still higher, if I had dived with a train through a tunnel two miles long at Stamped pass in the Cascade Mountains and there heeded the eternal snow cape of Mt. Rainier miles above the sea level, I hadn't heard of the Blue Canyon of the Geronimo and the Royal Gorge of the Denver and Rio Grand R. R., with their towering perpendicular walls thousands of feet above, and the river beds hundreds of feet below, then might have had a Natural bridge with something grand beyond description. But having seen such incomparably grander heights I can only say it is one of the grandest natural curiosities in the world. Time alone has wrought these wonders, and will ever do so. The shape of the arch underneath is similar to that of a colossus or how inverted, 160 feet high and proportioned otherwise accordingly. To this shape is due the fact men have been enabled to climb to certain heights and then the rest.

Anchors had the nerve and impetuosity to climb to such a dizzy and perilous height, with that awful chasm yawning below him, as the place pointed out to me as having been occupied by Geronimo. Anchors would have the nerve to cross a dozen Delawares in flows of ice and camp in a dozen Valley Forges in drifts of snow, would do to trust with an army any where or under any circumstances, and could be entrusted to fight British, Indians or Turks.

The most wonderful features of this great arch are the figures of the American Eagle with outstretched wings and head poised, just as you see it in the seal of our country. The eagle and lion are at the very top and center of the arch on the flat surface underneath, and 160 feet above. In looking up it reminds me of such figures as the Colossus of Rhodes, which were doubtless emulated and outlined by decorations, caused no doubt, by seaport or continual moisture. The profile are those of an old man and a young maid, representing old age and youth, I suppose.

The latter is so perfect as to lack no definition of features. Even a modern has bedecked her comely head and a how graces her throat.

She is a perfect type of a modern belle. Her profile is shown in a bronze bust, which stands on a pedestal about 100 feet up, viewed from a certain point in the river bed on the upper side of the bridge. This locates her on the lower right hand side of the bridge wall.

So wonderful are these collective curiosities that I wouldn't have been surprised to see a profile of Washington himself.

The bridge and property attached is a perfect bonanza to the owner, better than a silver mine. Strangers are going to go swimming all the time. There is only one entrance to the valley, and that through an office, and the entrance fee is fifty cents. The are two large, modern style hotels, and some elegantly furnished, a large ball-room, with balconies, etc.

A band of music is engaged every year for the summer season. You can imagine what a resort it is for tourists.

I gleaned a description and bit of history of it while there, which, in substance, is as follows: "It approaches Niagara in grandeur, and excels it in awful mystery. It is a single block of stone lime, with many sharp corners, going down to a broad base in New York, high enough to throw in shadow the towers of Trinity Church; in height from the stream below to the surface of the arch 218 feet; average breadth of top 90 feet; length of top 90 feet; height of arch 160 feet. The walls are as if cut with chisels, and there is no sign of displacement. Under it men look like boys, and trees like bushes."

The earliest mention of the bridge is by Barnaby, in 1859, who speaks of it as a natural arch or bridge, joining two high mountains with a considerable river underneath. A body Indian fight occurred near here in 1766. Arrow heads, fragments of pottery, pipes, &c., are found in the fields and roads of the neighborhood. Lightning struck the bridge in 1779, and hurled down an iron chain of rock.

When a survey was made for Lord Fairfax, visited at and carved his name where it may now be seen.

During the revolution the French organized two expeditions to visit it. From their measurements it was determined that it was made in Britain, which for nearly half a century was copied in Europe and America as correct. This place was much visited in the early part of this century. Major General George C. Benton, Jackson, Van Buren, Houston and others were registered here.

The bridge and 157 acres of land were granted by George the 3d to Thos. Jefferson in 1714. Marshall wrote of it in Goodwin's "American Antiquities." The bridge, not made with hands, that spans a river, carries a highway and makes two mountains out of one." But none of those distinguished men had ever seen the wonder of the hair and woolly west.

Two or three years ago a square rock, weighing about 20 tons, fell from lower edge at top of arch.

I looked up and saw the cavity from which it had been displaced by the force of gravity, and it seemed like a hole in the sky.

Pulpit Rock is another conspicuous feature, but the slow disintegration of its base by the action of freezings and thaws, will some day, not far in the future, hurl it down to its dismal home in the deep gloom and woe of the passers-by who happen there, for great will he the downfall.

It is about 60 feet high and about 15 feet thick, and viewed from one point looks like it is hanging by a thread, but let us speak. Its top is about a level with the highest spring of the arch.

Nothing seems to deter fool-hardy people from standing out on its very pinnacle in order to get a good view of the height and depth below. The county road above the bridge and it would be easy for a stranger to drive over it and never know he was on it.

One-fourth mile above the bridge, in the same valley or gorge, is what is called the lost river or whispering well. About 60 feet up on the mountain side, above the bed of the river which flows through and under the bridge, is a cavernous opening, with the opening a gushing cold, hold stream, flowing parallel to and in the same direction as the first named stream.

Over the entrance on a board is posted the following: "He who dares here will return"; said originally to have been put there by Jefferson, the first owner of the bridge property. Its outlet has never been discovered, though, they have tried all means.

I was told, but cannot vouch for the truth of it, that a few years ago, a drummer sealed a note in a bottle, set it afloat in there, and requested the finder to notify him by mail where he had found it. Some eight years after he got an answer from France saying it was found floating in the Gulf of Lyons. It is possible that Joe Muhington was around there.

While Natural Bridge is such a wonder, Natural Tunnel in S. W. Virginia is no lessoline of a curiosity. The trains of the South Atlantic and Ohio R. go thundering through them in a distance of about 900 feet via the headwaters. This is one of the boldest pieces of engineering I have seen outside of the Rocky mountains.

It is impossible to describe or conceive of the roughness of the country along the roadsides, and the tunnels are the tunnels that they keep the lights burning in coaches in broad day. It is hard to understand how a civilized race can prosper in such a region. Even here in Rockbridge county, the home of Lexington, a seat of learning, I cannot see how the people prosper. I was at the top of South mountain some weeks ago and got almost a full view of the entire county and saw a lot of the poorest farms a crew ever fared over. Surely the farms will eventually can bring nothing to the despondent farmer.

I was up there making a survey for a tramway line from the summit to the Shenandoah valley R. R., a distance of about 12 miles, feet above R. R. bed of the valley. The top of the mountain is an enormous out cropping of iron ore which analysis shows to contain 85 per cent. pure hematite. It belongs to the Glasgow Development Company, for whom I am working, and is 18 miles from here on South river.

At a rough estimate there are not less than 600,000 tons, and all available in open cuts. The tramway cars themselves by gravity and will carry them to the railroad and pay to convey to the railroad, exclusive of the cost of running, which is merely

Perils of Modern Life.

Contacts with electric wires, railroad cars, broken car and elevator cables, explosions of steam, natural gas and chemicals, poisons in adulterated food and drink, are a few; but all these dangers combined do not kill as rapidly as slow and sure Consumption. The death rate, however, from Consumption, is being yearly cut down since Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has given to the world his celebrated "Cough Medical Discovery," a cure for Consumption and Throat and Lung troubles that lead to Consumption, if taken in time and given a fair trial. The time to cure Consumption (which is really nothing more than an Lung-soreness) is in the first stages. A cough merely sounds the alarm, and you should take the "Discovery" at once. There is a time when it is too late.

JACK AND JILL. In various accounts as to how the man got into the moon. A common one is that he was banished for having been detected by Moses in the act of gathering sticks on the Sabbath. In another legend he was banished for the same offence, and was given the alternative of being scorched in the sun or frozen in the moon. In Icelandic myth the man becomes the two children familiarly known as Jack and Jill, who were banished by the moon. There we see them stand with bucket or pail across their shoulders, falling away, one after the other, as the moon wanes. And so it is that

"Jack fell down and broke his crown,

And Jill came tumbling after."

Now, just as sure as the moon wanes, just so sure does disease wane the influence of S. S. S. The difference being, however, that Jack and Jill never go up the hill any more in the latter case, the eradication of diseases by the medicine being complete and permanent.

SOL SMITH RUSSELL AS HOSEA HOWE.

An audience far above the average in numbers and fashion greeted Mr. Russell at the Grand last night. He was, of course, excellent, and of the portion of his performance which the central figure it may be declared a positive delight to have witnessed it was the air upon the mountain-top, fresh, pure and invigorating. This piece, of course, was intended merely as a vehicle for Mr. Russell's peculiar abilities, but in the hands of so skillful a playwright as Mr. Kidder, it has become something more, and although the play is given due prominence throughout, the other characters have not been dwarfed in their growth, and all stand out with full roundness and give a completed whole that is as fair and sweet a pastoral as has ever been penned by any author. The play is a portrait of Hosea Howe fits Mr. Russell like a glove, giving him every opportunity for the display of peculiar comic talents, with a nice blending of pathos here and there that comes as a pleasant relief to the seeming playfulness of fare.

In the first act you are treated to a view of the Ayrtown House, the peaks of the White Mountains in the distance, farms and country hamlets dotted about in the middle of the picture, the top of Hosea Howe's cottage peeping above the nearest hill in the foreground.

In the second act the author depicts a home for Hosea Howe, and amidst the simplest of rural surroundings, he is actuated by the highest hope and aspirations. In this scene we have the gaunt, ungainly, raw-boned youth, devoted to his mother, but yet a great student of his own life, and a boy who knows his natural history as well as how to guide a sidehill plow, a gentle nature at all times, although, in the language of the street, one of the country's best examples of a "rubber." Miss Minnie Radoloff playing an ingenue role delightfully. Miss Belmont gives a consistent portraiture of a Southern girl. Miss Chautard has a motherly, kindly, good natured person. Mother Howe, but plays it in an artistic and studied manner. Messrs. Brandt, Byron and Vroom are still artists above the average found in supporting companies.

If you have pathos, go and see "Peaceful Valley." Rare as the article is there is plenty of it. In this charming play. When Sol Smith Russell told how Hosea sought his master in New York, we were told his story to the avial creatures there, and when he had finished, the women were all on their knees and the men had slunk about, there were many tearful eyes in the theater last night, and their tears did not all wash out, nor did all the saints. Large audiences will be seen at the Grand this week.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

BAKING POWDER FACTS.

Brought out by the Official Government Tests.

From Chicago Tribune.

The public is always responsive to suggestions about the food it eats. Great interest has been manifested in investigation made by the United States and Canadian governments and by the different boards of health to show the purity or impurity of milk, baking powders, spices, and other articles of food used in the culinary departments of our household. Just now the subject of baking powder is claiming public attention.

The Royal baking powder of the United States and Canadian governments have therefore been studied with interest and have pretty clearly established the facts upon this subject. The United States government report gives the following election with kinds of powders, some of them advertised as pure cream of tartar baking powders, that contain alum.

The report shows that the Royal baking powder contains 10 per cent. in increasing strength, evolving 160.8 cubic inches of gas per single ounce of powder. There were eight other brands of cream of tartar powders tested and their average strength was 111.6 cubic inches of gas per ounce of powder.

The Canadian government investigations were of a still larger number of powders. The Royal baking powder was here also shown the purest and strongest, evolving 139.32 cubic inches of leavening gas per ounce of powder. Nine other cream of tartar powders were tested, their average strength being reported as 98 cubic inches of gas per ounce of powder.

The Canadian government investigations were of a still larger number of powders. The Royal baking powder was here also shown the purest and strongest, evolving 139.32 cubic inches of leavening gas per ounce of powder. Nine other cream of tartar powders were tested, their average strength being reported as 98 cubic inches of gas per ounce of powder.

These figures are very instructive to the practical housekeeper. They indicate that the Royal baking powder goes more than twice as far in use as other powders. It is certainly more economical than this, however, we prove this popular article has been brought to the highest degree of purity—for its superlative purity this superiority in strength is due—and it is evident that by its use we may be insure the purest and most wholesome food.

The powders of lower strength are found to leave large amounts of inert matter in the dough, which is emphasized by the report of the Ohio State Food Commissioner, who, while finding the Royal practically pure, found no other powder to contain less than 10 per cent. of inert or foreign matter.

The public interest in this question has likewise caused to be made investigations by our local authorities. Prof. W. S. Haines, of Rush Medical College, and Dr. C. C. of the Chicago Board of Health, has found results similar to those reported by the national and Canadian authorities. Dr. Haines says:

RUSH MEDICAL COLLEGE,

CHICAGO, ILL.

I have recently obtained samples of the chief baking powders in the market, and have subjected them to careful chemical examination to determine their purity, wholesomeness and keeping qualities. In the result of my test I find the Royal baking powder superior to all the others in every respect. It is entirely free from all adulteration and unwholesome ingredients. In baking it gives off a greater volume of leavening gas than any other powder. It is therefore not only the purest, but also the strongest powder with which I am acquainted.

WALTER S. HAINES, M.D., Consulting Chemist, Chicago Board of Health.

The statistics show that there is used in the manufacture of the Royal baking powder more than half of all the cream of tartar consumed in the United States for all purposes. The wonderful size thus indicated for the Royal baking powder—greater than that of all other baking powders combined—is perhaps even a higher evidence than that already quoted of the superiority of this article, and of its indispensability to modern cooking.

Oil, What a Cough.

Will you heed the warning, the signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease Consumption? Ask yourself if you can afford, for the sake of saving 50c., to go to the doctor and to pay for that valuable work free by sending their address (enclosing a two cent stamp for mailing same) to Dr. J. K. Kendall Co., Enosburg, Fall, Vt. This book is now in its second edition, and is standard authority upon all diseases of the horse, as its phenomenal sale attests; over four million copies having been sold in the past ten years, a sale never before matched by any publication in this country. You will feel confident that our patrons will appreciate the work, and be glad to avail themselves of this opportunity of obtaining a valuable book.

It is necessary that you mention this paper in ordering for the "Trade."

This offer will remain open for only a short time.

It is surprising that people will use such an ordinary oil when they can secure a valuable English one for the same money. Dr. Acker's English pills are a positive cure for sick headaches and all liver troubles. They are small, sweet, easily taken, and do not gripe.
